What is E-Learning?

E-learning is a style of distance learning. The coursework is provided via our e-learning website, which is split into the different modules of your chosen qualification. E-learning is a more interactive style of studying as you will progress through a series of slides with exercises, video clips and handouts, allowing you to study at your own pace.

What does the E-Learning package include?

Once payment has been received, we will send you an introduction pack via email including background information on the qualification, study plan, how to access the e-learning material and how to submit end of element reviews. We will also provide you with information on how to register for the exams, and exam technique guidance. You will be given unique log-in details to the e-learning website, access to the web site is for one year.

You will have access to:

- Study techniques guidance
- Presentations for all elements on the syllabus, including the NEBOSH e-learning outcomes, quizzes, interactive exercises and handouts
- Video presentations via YouTube

- An interactive A-Z of key terms
- Podcasts which can be downloaded or streamed to your phone or tablet
- Downloadable printable course handouts and additional downloadable resources to support your chosen qualification
- Guidance on the completion of the practical element of your selected qualification (if applicable)

Support and Feedback

The interactive presentations include a number of quizzes and questions, these can be completed more than once and the answers are given once completed. At the conclusion of each element a set of questions will be provided to be completed and sent back to us for marking and feedback.

Support will be provided for a period of twelve months, this includes queries by telephone or email Monday to Friday. If we are unable to answer your query immediately you will receive a response within 48 hours.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is the difference between the distance learning and e-learning options?

The distance learning option is for those of you who are happy to study on your own, a hardcopy full course package is provided plus email and telephone support and tutor marked reviews to be completed and sent to us for marking and feedback.

E-learning provides the same tutor support as distance learning, but all of the course material and resources are via our e-learning website. This option is more interactive with quizzes to complete as you progress through each element. You do have the option to purchase a hardcopy version of the study materials if required. The e-learning website is accessible via PCs, iPads, tablets and laptops. End of element reviews can be sent in for marking & feedback.

If I opt for the E-Learning option can I still attend a revision tutorial?

We now offer a revision package included in your 12 month tutor support period, which is sent to you when you register your exam(s).

I have received all of my material and sent off my Nebosh exam registration form but have not had a reply?

When you register for an exam we will send you your invoice if you haven't paid for your exams, and the revision package. You will then receive confirmation emails from Nebosh closer to the exam date. If you have not received any emails from Cambridge Safety prior to the exam cut off date please email/telephone us.

I can no longer sit the exam that I am registered for, what are my options?

Once we register for an assessment with Nebosh, they do not issue refunds unless you have medical evidence to support your circumstances. When you reregister for the next exam sitting normal Nebosh charges will apply.

When will I receive my practical inspection/audit pack?

Some Nebosh qualifications have a practical element e.g. NG2, FSC2 and EMC2. Information on the practical is included in your E-Learning package but you will be sent the full information package approximately 3 weeks prior to the exam date, including the submission deadline.

About Cambridge Safety

Cambridge Safety was established in Peterborough in 1998 primarily to provide assistance to organisations in meeting their legal obligations with respect to health & safety. Through this work it has become apparent that, not only do organisations need competent technical assistance, but also need to give employees at all levels the skills to work safely and to manage health & safety effectively. Cambridge Safety provides a wide range of cost effective training solutions with this aim in mind, with in house taught courses, open taught courses, open learning and E Learning options. We have been allocated Gold Status by Neboosh as part of their Learner Partner programme in recognition of the support we offer students during all stages of their learner journey.

E-LEARNING NEBOSH GENERAL HEALTH AND SAFETY CERTIFICATE

The General Certificate is designed to help non health & safety specialists meet their health and safety obligations - many safety practitioners start with this course before progressing to the more intensive and detailed National Diploma. This qualification consists of eleven course elements, four covering the management of health and safety and seven covering specific workplace hazards and risks. The four management elements are assessed by one open book examination which can be taken in a safe and suitable location of your choice. The more practical hazards and risks are assessed via a comprehensive workplace risk assessment report. The NG1 is the name given to the management of health and safety and the NG2 is the name given to the workplace hazards section of the qualification. Both open book exam and risk assessment have to be passed in a five year period to achieve the qualification. We recommend allowing approximately 100 hours of study time. This is a brand new syllabus with assessments and examinations at Cambridge Safety available from July 2020 onwards.

NG1 Management of H&S

- Why companies should manage health and safety
- Health & safety management systems—how they work and what they look like
- Managing risk—understanding people and processes
- Health and safety - monitoring & measuring

NG2 Controlling Workplace Hazards

- Physical & psychological health
- Musculoskeletal health & Chemical & biological agents
- General workplace issues & Work Equipment

E-LEARNING NEBOSH CERTIFICATE IN FIRE SAFETY

The new syllabus NEBOSH Certificate in Fire Safety is launched in March 2021 and is designed for people who have fire safety responsibilities at work. It provides the knowledge and understanding, when combined with relevant experience, to carry out an effective fire risk assessment, as well as embed good practice in the workplace.

Holders of this accredited qualification help their organisation to ensure it meets its fire safety responsibilities. Fire safety is important. It protects people from injury and loss of life. It protects your property, your assets and your investment ensuring employees know how to help their employers avoid the damaging and sometimes catastrophic losses that result from fire.

As there is not a general Health and Safety Management unit to this course anymore, we do recommend taking the Nebosh General Certificate or equivalent level 3 qualification, for an underpinning knowledge of Health and Safety.

The main piece of legislation which forms a key part of this qualification is the details of the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 will be examined and fire related issues developed to enable delegates to complete fire risk assessments in a variety of different workplaces.

As well as tackling the extensive syllabus and standards set by Nebosh, the course will also give assistance and practical guidance on examination techniques and full guidance on the completion of the FSC2 workplace fire risk assessment will be provided.

E-LEARNING ENVIRONMENTAL CERTIFICATE

New syllabus launched June 2021. This course is designed for all those who have involvement in environmental issues within the organisation. This is an VRQ level three qualification covering 9 different areas of environmental practice.

Environmental standards are developing rapidly in the UK with more and more regulations covering issues such as waste management, energy efficiency and pollution control. Managing environmental issues is not only a legal necessity but can result in definite improvements and cost savings if implemented successfully.

Guidance will be given on completing the workplace environmental aspect and impact assessment. The completion of the assessment in the delegate's own workplace allows the course to have a direct impact on identifying areas of improvement for that workplace.

Many employers give responsibility for environmental management to the organisation's safety advisor or manager. Holding the new Nebosh Environmental Certificate will provide the holder with the confidence to undertake their role, as well as being an indicator of the competence both internally and externally to the organisation.
