

MANAGING SAFELY®

The Managing Safely® course has been revised and updated in 2019 to ensure it meets the requirements of the Institution of Occupational Safety and Health (IOSH) to address the safety and health training needs of the non expert. This is a highly successful, practical and certificated course run over three days. It concludes with a short written assessment and a practical risk assessment based project to be completed back in the workplace. Successful delegates will be awarded the IOSH Managing Safely® Certificate.

The course is designed to develop the skills used to deal with key health and safety issues affecting every workplace. The role of the line manager is explored to identify the practical ways in which they can contribute to ensuring the health and safety of their employees, organisation and the other people who may be affected by their company's operation.

The course is based upon:

- identification of workplace behaviours
- competence based training
- formal assessment of skills
- best practice rather than legislation

The course is highly participative with tutor presentations supported by the use of practical exercises, syndicate work, video and feedback sessions.

This is a highly intensive training programme which covers a wide variety of subjects. As well as tackling the extensive syllabus set by IOSH, the course will also focus on the practical skills required to manage safely in the workplace.
